SRC REPORT

During this years SRC meetings we have discussed and achieved many goals and problems.

At the first Year Level Meeting two representatives from each year level were elected.

Our first Out-of-Uniform Day was held on Friday 6th March. The theme for the day was "Crazy Shorts". Many weird and wonderful creations were worn and prizes were awarded for the most original. At lunchtime novelty activities were held, e.g. rolling pin throwing and longest football kicking.

The students and staff donated money on the day for Lisa Donovan and Suzanne Borg who went to America. They were representing Seymour in an Athletics Competition. Over $400 was raised. The day proved to be both a financial success and a fun time for all.

In keeping with the policy of the School, a number of students were elected to various committees representing the students point of view.

School Council	Julie Brock, Helen McDonald, Tracy Vearing.
Curriculum Committee	Paul Montgomery, Kylie Chard.
Health Committee	Melissa Parker, Ross Berry.

A number of different speakers attended the SRC meetings during the year. Miss Earl who was in charge of the Walkathon sought the advice from the students on how the money should be spent. The SRC and the School Council then agreed that the following should be purchased:

1. A Microwave for the Home Economics Department.
2. Catalogue Draw, Mobile Multifile and Audio Disk Cassette Player and Shelving for the Library.
3. Books and materials for the Integration Programme.
4. Reference books for Art.
5. Two long bed wood lathes for the Woodwork Department.
6. An Etching Press.
7. A donation to be given towards the School Magazine.

Mr. Watson attended another meeting and answered a variety of questions put forward by the students.

Mrs. Austin addressed a meeting later in the year on the research being done by the Assessment and Reporting Committee. This Committee was reviewing the present reporting system used at our school. After surveying students, parents, teachers, employers and the community any changes needed may result in a new format in 1988.

At lunchtimes we continued with our Interform Sporting Competitions. Each form was given the opportunity to decide which game they wished to play. The following forms were victorious.

The Year 11s played Volleyball, with 11C being the winners. Team members were: Tim Donohue, Anita Sapsford, Shaun Spain, Jodie Lodding, Susan Cook. Thanks to Ian Fraser who umpired.

The Year 10s played Basketball with 10F winning the grand final. Team members were: Craig Hall, Jason Krzciuk, Sandy Kerr, Kim Wilson and Scott Ewert. Thanks to Scott Melville, Rhys Melville and Joseph Storey who umpired.

The Year 9s played Basketball also with 9E being the winners. Team members were: Darrilyn Drew, Katherine Corradin, Adam Mumford, Troy Parson, Paul Schneeberger. Thanks to Scott Melville, Rhys Melville, Joseph Storey and Greg Liddell who umpired.

The Year 8s decided to play netball. The games were very competitive and "fate" being that every team that wore the orange bibs won. 8A were the winners here. Team members were Natalie Drew, Graham Stephen, Rodney Hagan, Richard Bassett, Bronya Harris, April Miller, Kim Jennings and Damien Dyer. Thanks to the following who were willing umpires on the days. Joanne Hagan, Karen Lane, Paula Brown, Lisa Humphries and Sheryl Richards.

Our Second Out-of-Uniform Day was held in conjunction with Form 11C who were having a fund-raising for their Camp in November. The theme for the day was Hats and Ties. The teachers won out on the day with a wide range of attire. Because of the inclement weather (yet again) we held the Student Auction ("Teachers revenge") in the Tech. Wing. Mr. Colin Smith was the Auctioneer and twenty-two students were sold. The top bids were Michael Flower Year 10 and Daniel Davies Year 7. During the next two days, at lunchtimes, the students performed their tasks. The total amount raised from the Auction was over $200.

During the year a number of students have been given the opportunity to experience different educational activities.

1. Jenny Saw was selected to go to Canberra for the Queen Elizabeth Conference held in August for one week.
2. Helen McDonald went to the Dingley Educational Adventure in Melbourne, courtesy of Rotary.
3. Anne Hurren was selected as an emergency for the AIDC - National Science Summer School in January.
4. Robert Trebble and Shane Hutchins will be going to the Lord Summers Camp in January.
5. Sherry Long and Dhana Rattray were selected to go to the Mittagundi Camp (Omeo).

We would sincerely like to thank the following students who attended the SRC meetings regularly and were worthy representatives of their Year Level.

Yr 12	Matthew Laverie, Robert Chittenden and Tracey Vearing.
Yr 11	Jenny Saw, Troy Stecklebruck (until he left school early in the year).
Yr 10	Kylie Chard, Bradley Ewing.
Yr 9	Paul Montgomery, Natasha Peters.
Yr 8	Jackie Cardwell, Graham Steven, Cheryl Vearing.
Yr 7	Jackie Montgomery, Travis McKenzie.

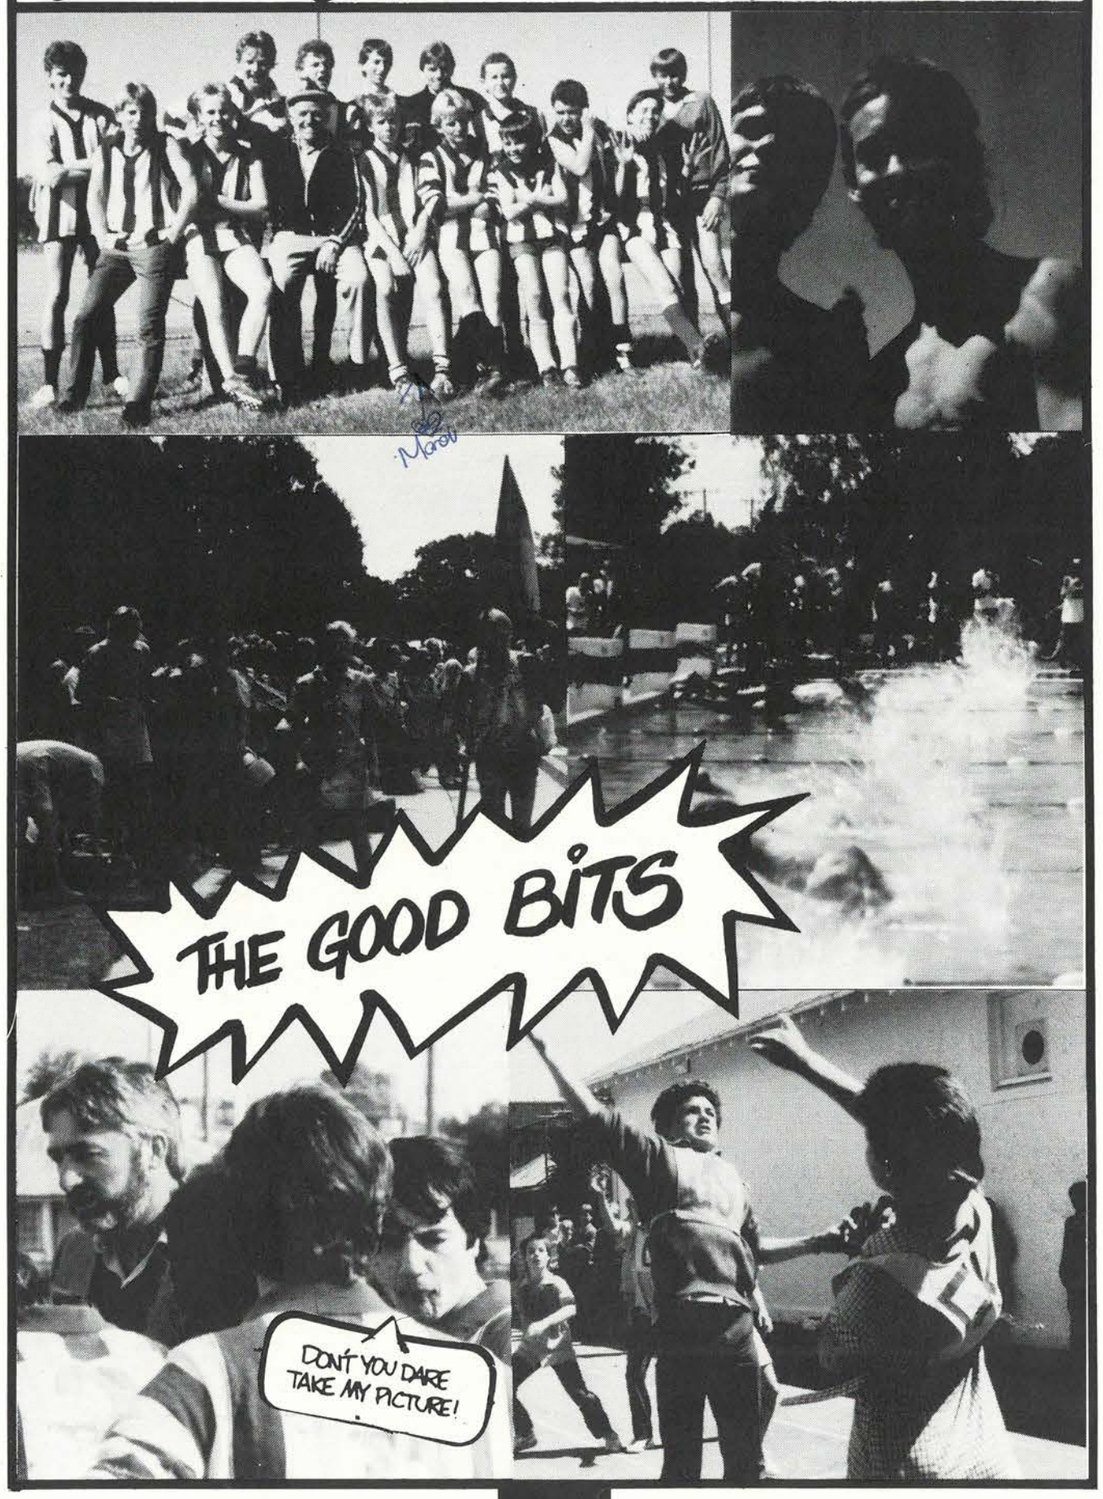
SPORTS OF ALL SORTS



HARRIETVILLE 1987

In the early hours of Monday 24th August, 33 students and four teachers had their showers and a hurried breakfast. All had one common goal, to get to Loco Street by 4.45am to catch the coach to Harrietville and the snow. It made an unusual sight to see people dressed in their skiing gear, in the darkness, outside the school hall.

The trip to Harrietville was uneventful except for a toilet stop at the multi-million dollar toilets on the Hume Highway. At that time of the morning it needed an element of courage not usually associated with toilet seats - they were very cold!

Harrietville was reached in about four hours and the absence of snow caused some worried looks on those new to the sport. After unloading the luggage each person was fitted out with skis, boots, and ski poles.

All was loaded onto the coach and the journey to Mount Buffalo began. This was the first time on skis for many of the group. A ski lesson was organized for 1pm, and after a few 'practice falls' the lesson began.

For some the most important part of the lesson was how to get up after falling down. Others could already do this and wanted to know how to go forwards not 'backwards'. Also stopping was a problem for many of the beginners. Going down a slope you'd here "move out of my @#@# way I can't stop". After conning Vera to get up on the chairlift at Buffalo, the hard part was getting Vera off as she didn't seem to notice that you had to wait for the people in front of you to move and knocked about five people over like dominoes.

The next two days were spent at Falls Creek. Many people found it hard to stay on the Poma's and T-bar and found it equally hard getting off, the main problem being that the bar got caught between the legs. At Falls Creek Tania showed her skills by skiing into the side of a hill. Helen was a innocent by-stander, stopping to see if she was okay. That was a mistake as Vera followed by Kim, with legs spread sped into the back of Helen causing a major pile up. A group of beginners had a female instructor the first day who didn't return for the second day. (If that tells you anything ...)

The first day at Falls Creek, Paul McCarthy decided to take four beginners, who shall remain nameless, down an 85° slope. When they made it to the bottom (finally) he said "see I told you it was easy". Speaking of easy slope's, should Andrew Collard and Scott Melville expect a fruitful future after an encounter with a tree on the way down. After two days at Falls Creek we feel that Glenn Papworth should have been awarded a compass, as he kept losing his bearings (and the bus) at the end of each day. Not to mention Miss Toogood, who stressed not to be late, and then turned up a good 15 minutes late after flirting with a ski instructor. (One question we want to ask is did Miss Toogood ever do her kitchen duty?)

The last two days were spent at Hotham. One attraction was the jump at the Big Dipper, most people managed to make it over, remaining upright at least once. (Bad luck Mrs Krantz). Again the chairlift seemed to cause a problem with some. Kylie seemed to enjoy the chairlift ride at the Big Dipper so much that she decided not to get off at the top and continued to go back down. The operator had to stop the lift to get her off on the way back down. Kamakazi Jonno seemed to have theslopes to himself due to the fact that when anyone saw him coming they'd get out of his way as quickly as possible. The weather was quite good apart from a few white outs which put alot of people off. Some of the weather required beanies and goggles but people like Robert Dove didn't want to risk their hairdo's to don a hat.

Apart from skiing we went to Bright where we went to the sports center, where we enjoyed a spa, sauna, a swim in the pool, a game of squash and a jump on the trampoline's. After that we went to the Crazy Roo restaurant. The rest of the time was spent watching videos, playing pool and video games in the games room and doing very little homework.

The trip was a great success with everyone getting on well together. And we would recommend this trip to anyone. The only regret we have is that we can't go next year.

Kim and Helen Yr 11.

CENTRAL AUSTRALIAN TRIP

On Saturday 20th June at 6 a.m. 43 students and 4 staff 'Bruffy', 'Mildew', 'Fly' and 'Fuhrmy' left Seymour on the start of a 16 day trip to Central Aust and Darwin. We travelled via Renmark to Coober Pedy for a tour of the town and a talk about opals (Sonya found underground conditions not to her liking.) On to Yalara for the sunset at Ayers Rock. Next day all achieved the climb of the Rock (Spainy and Marzy were the speedsters.) After the climb we spelt out SEYMOUR by lying on the ground - see photo. The evening was spent at the Yalara complex checking out the shops for souvenirs.

Out to the Olgas for a 6 hour hike/climb through the many domes which together comprise the Olgas. The climb up the gorge proved difficult but all felt a real sense of achievement on completion (Stuart, Belly, Spainy Marzy were top encouragers.) The weary hikers then viewed the Olgas at sunset before another night of souvenir shopping for some, washing clothes for others, ringing home or for 'Dingo', 'Bass and Daniel' the entertainment was the girls from 'Footrot Flats'.

Kings Canyon was reached by trekking along the top of the Canyon and then down to a valley and a dip in a cold pool for some - Anita, Cookie and Tara made sure of that. On to the camel farm where there were plenty of OOHS and AAHS - especially Kerri, Samone, Melissa and Kellie, then to Alice Springs.

'Up the track' to Tennant Creek (Michelle's own town), Devil's Marbles, Daly Waters and Mataramka Springs for an afternoon relaxing in the thermal pool. That evening we were entertained by a Bush band and some of our students - Jenny, Stephanie, Stuart P and Spainy singing the school song and "among the gumtrees".

A scenic boat trip up the Katherine Gorge, then on to 'Crocodile Dundee' country - Kakadu National Park. Here we saw huge termite mounds, water buffalo and many crocodile warning signs. Our campsite at South Alligator River was enjoyed by all with a pool and spa to get some relief from the 32°C heat. A morning cruise of the river playing 'spot the croc' was followed by a stop at the Crocodile farm where Megan, Bronwyn, Mandy Kylie and Susan thought the baby crocs were cute) - On to Darwin to visit Fanny Bay Gaol (Bruffy and Sharon in solitary confinement), cyclone Tracy display, fish feeding at Doctor's Gully.

We then flew home (ask Michelle and Tara about the spunky airline stewards) arriving back at 11pm.

POETRY

- Ode to the Student -

O, student of mine, so young and discerning
For you my impecunious years of learning.
For you my true and diligent dedication
For you to gain an excellent education.
For your improvement do I enthuse
And every audio-visual aid use.
I consider your needs in every case,
Cater for your talents and your taste.
Into the night do I ponder the courses,
Then ransack the library to find new sources.
I stencil and copy and chalk and talk,
And read and discuss and order and book.
With the same noble aim, I make tapings and drawings
To ensure that your lessons transcend the boring.
Need I mention the hours in shops in the city
When I seek inspiration and, (isn't it a pity?)
When I find it I buy at my own expense,
As my faculty's funds are now counted in cents.
But this is my chosen vocation and duty
To fulfil with a sense of its value and beauty,
For you are my student and I, as your teacher,
Undertake the formation of an education creature.

O, student of mine (Yes, that means you!)
You are day-dreaming when I explain what to do.
You were running late and forgot your book,
My searching questions receive a blank look.
You can't find your pen and your ruler's not there
And it seems that someone's put gum in you hair.
You don't want to read or listen or write
And you can't concentrate, the sun's too bright.
You tell me the subject means nothing to you,
That I'm wasting your time and taxes too.
The lesson's a bore; you'd much rather know
Where I brought my shirt and if I can sew.
Was my husband once in a "bikie" gang.
Is my hair really grey and do I know the bell rang?
You rush out of class; the room's in a mess
I pack up and clean up and have to confess
It's time when I long for challenges new:
I wonder if I can get a job at the zoo.

PERFORMING ARTS REPORT

This year has been a busy one for performing arts students. The choir has grown with many new and talented members and has shown continued imporvement. Their performances in school assemblies, concerts, and Carols by Candlelight show that their hours of rehearsals have been well spent despite Mrs Sexton's favourite saying "Stop the gossip, girls." The select choir, which meets after school, continued to confound Mr Skidmore, who had to keep writing new arrangements as they learned the music too quickly. We'll mis Corinna Greenwood who sang with us for five years. Perhaps she'll be the first singing bank clerk in Melbourne.

The dancers in the school have been active. Miss Weaver, Miss Spencer, Miss McCabe, Mr Brown, and Mrs Moat all look fitter after working with energetic dancers. There were also dance workshops conducted by Stuart Robertson, a professional dancer and choreographer for the Australian Ballet. Students found the sessions rewarding, although everyone complained about the "abdominal warm-up exercises". If you heard groans coming from the squash courts, you can bet that it was warm-up time. The excursion to Melbourne to see "The Tempest" made up for it though, and the rest of the school had a glimpse of what it's like to be a dancer when we had the special assembly on dance at the end of term three. As always, Contact gave an energetic, precise performance.

Those of you who have seen Tara Jarvis lugging around a saxophone case will know that the school now has a concert band. Students learning instruments have lessons with Mr. C. Fullerton on Fridays and have progressed very well.

The high lights of the year were the two variety shows "Haunted" and "Summer Camp". Over a hundred students and staff participated in putting together two performances featuring music, dance and drama. Judging from the size of the crowd and the audience reaction, those who attended were impressed with the talent of the students of our school.

However, what also impressed the staff who worked on the shows was the willingness of students to work hard, offer help and to be in the right place at the right time. The professional attitudes of so many of the students points to a terrific school production in 1988.

MITCHELL HOUSE REPORT 1987

1987 was a year of success for Mitchell House. We started the year well, winning the Interhouse Swimming Sports by one point. This wasn´t surprising with swimmers like: Brett Vernon (U/14), Craig Brack (U/15), Dean Brown (U/16), John Dummett (U/17) and Andrew Collard (Open) who all took out age champion medals. A special congratulations goes to John Dummett who broke the U/17 boys freestyle record.

The Interhouse Cross Country was the next on the sporting calendar and again we were successful, winning the aggregate trophy by 21 points. Congratulations to our age champions: Wes Hall (U/13), Craig Bearman (U/14), Sharon Muller (U/14) and Sally Smalley (Open), who were first across the line in their age groups.

Again our day arrived when the Interhouse Athletic Sports were contested. We made it a hat-trick by taking out the aggregate trophy by 69 1/2 points as well as the golf trophy by 22 points. Our house also provided six age champions: Craig Bearman (U/14), Craig Hall (U/17), Melanie Green (U/14), Nicole Morvell (U/15), Paula Rucker (U/16) and Suzanne Borg (Open).

POETRY

- Ode to the Student -

O, student of mine, so young and discerning
For you my impecunious years of learning.
For you my true and diligent dedication
For you to gain an excellent education.
For your improvement do I enthuse
And every audio-visual aid use.
I consider your needs in every case,
Cater for your talents and your taste.
Into the night do I ponder the courses,
Then ransack the library to find new sources.
I stencil and copy and chalk and talk,
And read and discuss and order and book.
With the same noble aim, I make tapings and drawings
To ensure that your lessons transcend the boring.
Need I mention the hours in shops in the city
When I seek inspiration and, (isn't it a pity?)
When I find it I buy at my own expense,
As my faculty's funds are now counted in cents.
But this is my chosen vocation and duty
To fulfil with a sense of its value and beauty,
For you are my student and I, as your teacher,
Undertake the formation of an education creature.

O, student of mine (Yes, that means you!)
You are day-dreaming when I explain what to do.
You were running late and forgot your book,
My searching questions receive a blank look.
You can't find your pen and your ruler's not there
And it seems that someone's put gum in you hair.
You don't want to read or listen or write
And you can't concentrate, the sun's too bright.
You tell me the subject means nothing to you,
That I'm wasting your time and taxes too.
The lesson's a bore; you'd much rather know
Where I brought my shirt and if I can sew.
Was my husband once in a "bikie" gang.
Is my hair really grey and do I know the bell rang?
You rush out of class; the room's in a mess
I pack up and clean up and have to confess
It's time when I long for challenges new:
I wonder if I can get a job at the zoo.

TRIP TO THE U.S.A

On the 18th April 1987, Leesa Donovan and I left for a 10 day trip to the United States that proved to be not only a good experience but an enjoyable one. This trip was arranged by the International Sports Exchange and its purpose was for the 75 athletes in the Australian team to gain experience at competing at an international level.

The flight to the States proved to be an exhausting one and not much sleep was had by all, but we had all recovered after a couple of hours lazing around on Waikiki Beach, Hawaii.

Our three day stay in Hawaii was full of shopping, swimming and sightseeing. Some of these sights included Pearl Harbour, Wiamea Bay Blow Holes and the coral gardens of Honouma Bay where many of us tried Snorkelling amoung the fish and coral.

We left Waikiki on the 21st April, many of us already laden with souvineers and suntans, and headed for Los Angeles, California. Here we stayed at Kellogs West University and our next few days were jam packed with sightseeing and activities. We visited places like Disneyland, Universal Studios and Knotts Berry Farm. We also enjoyed a traditional U.S. Beach party and were challenged to a game of beach volleyball by a few college students. The rest of the night was spent sitting around talking to the locals and being asked to say something in Australian.

The last three days were spent at the athletic track competing and meeting such athletes as Carl Lewis and Daley Thompson. Our main competition was the Mt. Soc Relays. At this meet Leesa was entered into a number of relay teams that were very successful. Overall she gained a 1st in the 4 x 800 metre relay (college division).

I competed in two competitions. The first was a challenge meet against a number of U.S. High Schools. At this meet I won both discus and shot put. I also competed at Mt Soc and was placed 4th in th Discus and 8th in the Shot Put.

The trip home was a quiet one as we were all very tired. Most of the time was spent swapping addresses with all of the friends we had made. This trip was an excellent experience and every one learnt alot about what it is like to compete internationally.

Both Leesa and I would like to thank the S.R.C committee and everyone that was involved with our fund raising at the beginning of the year.

MYSTERIOUS NEIGHBOURS

"Mum", said John. "You know that the Smiths moved out last year". "Yes". "Well some people have just moved in, I couldn´t see them, but in a few days I´ll go in and see if there are any kids my age".

John kept going over for about a month and so were his parents but no-one would answer the door. One day I saw the family, but they were doing something very suspicious, they were digging a great big hole in the ground, it looked like a tunnel of some sort. This carried on for about a week. Then one morning the backyard had been completely covered over again, no sign of anything being dug up. There was all the grass and trees over it, exactly the same as before, before they dug it up.

On the news that night, two people from our street were missing. I knew straight away. Anyway this went on for a few weeks, until one night I saw people with knives, I ran out and followed, and sneaked around and watched them go to the Jobson´s house, I watched them walk in and cut them to pieces. I held my tongue until I saw them drag them out, I screamed. They looked around and chased me. They got me in the end. They were awful, they had yucky teeth and burnt faces, but most that sticks to me is that they had green eyes.

He was just about to stab me when I woke up. I had had a terrible nightmare, or did I because I looked out the window and people were moving in, I looked at them, then HE smiled then his eyes went green and he picked up the garden shears.

AN EXCITING EXPERIENCE

My most exciting experience was when my netball team last year had a tie in the second semi-final against a team which we thought would thrash us. We played another 5 minutes and we won! We all celebrated and were confident for the grand final even though we were playing the team that hadn´t lost a game during the season. It was a shock and an achievement to beat the Rebels in the second semi final.

Everyone was nervous and excited for the grand final, we started off well but unfortunately I had a dislocated finger and another girl had a sprained ankle and we didn´t have an emergency so we slackened off and lost by 16 goals, we were disappointed but were proud of ourselves for making it into the grand final.

10T WORK EXPERIENCE REPORT T12

On Sunday the 2nd August, 10T and T12 travelled to Melbourne to begin our two weeks Work Experience. The types of jobs that students participated in ranged from motor mechanics, motor trimming, carpentry, upholstoring, hairdressing, working in Police headquarters, childcare, shop assistants, working in a vertarian clinic, a nurses aide, office work and a chef in a hospital. Resulting from the two weeks experience, there were six apprenticeship offers: four, 10T students and two T12 students.

During the first week a few students found difficulties with the transport strike and some had to walk to work which took quite a while. That was probably the biggest problem faced, but generally students didn't have any problems with work or their employers which was good. When teachers went to visit the students at their work place they were very pleased that everyone was getting along so well. When Mr Rimes went to see Samone Hollings at the Childcare centre where she was working he had a bit of trouble getting in the child-proof gate. Samone was just on her lunch break across the road and saw him in his predicament. After making quite a joke out of it she decided to help him out and went and opened it for him. And they reckon teachers are supposed to be intelligent!!

By the end of the week, students were beginning to get very tired and exhausted. That was not only due to their hard work during the day, but also the activities participated in during the evening. Mr Haridisty felt the cold in more places than one on Thursday night, ice skating at the Myer Music Bowl. On our way home on the train that night the class was spread out over two carriages. There was only a few of us on the first carriage and most were on the second. We stopped at Richmond station and two policemen and one policewoman got on. They caught one of our Year 12's for having his feet on the seat, but after only giving him a warning they came over and began talking to us. Mr Hardisty had an idea of a joke we could play on a particular student in the next carriage. So after we told them what they needed to know they got off at the next station and got on the other carriage where the greater half of the class was sitting. As they got on the the policewoman announced was there a Craig Pratt on the carriage. Craig turned and said "Yeh." Seeing that it was the police that asked he turned back around with a very worried look on his face. They told him that they had been looking for him for quite some time and that he was a very hard person to track down. They then continued asking him questions. That went on for a while until Craig realised it was a set up, but even now he still can't see the funny side of it.

On Friday night everyone had a lot of fun at the Fun Factory in Toorak. Ross Wilkie especially had slighty more fun concerning some tomatoe sauce resulting from a supposed fight planned by Miss Richards as a practical joke on Mr Hardisty and Mr Rimes.

On Saturday morning everyone was looking forward to a sleep in but Hardo and Rhimsey again saw to that. I woke to the sound of them running up our corridor with Megan, Suzanne and Simone not far behind covered with shaving cream. That was Hardo and Rimsey's revenge on them for the night before as their beds weren't all that comfortable to sleep in because they had been short sheeted. Although the beds did smell quite nice. In their haste to leave the hostel that morning, they left behind Ross Wilkie who they were supposed to take back to Seymour with them. Apparently that was another bit of revenge for the night before.

Anyway, after everyone got cleaned up, Mr Gasperino, Miss Richards and Mrs Austin (our second weeks bunch of teachers) took us on a train to the Victorian Market. Thereafter we went to see Melbourne defeat Richmond at the MCG in a close, exciting game which everyone enjoyed.

That night we all went out to an Asian restaurant. Everyone had a good meal eating as much as they could. Rachel Cassar thought walking down the stairs was too easy for her so she decided to take the hard and painful way down. Fortunately there was no injuries, but she came close. When Craig Pratt was handed the bill for the meal he was sure we'd all be washing dishes for a month to pay for it.

Sunday, however, was an unusually quiet day at the hostel with nearly everyone out visiting friends and relatives. This gave the ones that were there a chance to catch up on lost sleep, which everyone needed. It became very, very tiring in Melbourne, it probably sounds like it was all fun, but really we all had to put in very long days with not a lot of sleep.

The second week was very busy too with the troubles of people running out of money, and becoming overly tired setting in. On Monday night we stayed in and did some homework and watched a video. Tuesday we went to the city to watch Manequinn". Everyone enjoyed that. Wednesday night we watched Pat McNamara yell down everyone at Parliament House. We also met and talked to Jeff Kennett and Terry Norris the ex Cop Shop actor. Afterwards, we went to the Pancake Parlour. Thursday night we had a video and had to pack all our gear because on Friday morning we had to be out of our rooms before breakfast. On Friday, after we all got home from work we had our final meal at Minimbah (for which a lot of peolpe were glad it was the last) and then put all our gear on the bus and came back to Seymour.

We were all very glad to be home to the fresh air and quiet surroundings but wished that Work Experience could have gone on for longer because it was a very enjoyable, rewarding and worthwhile experience which I strongly urge all Year 9's to carefully consider taking part in.

On behalf of all 10T students I would really like to thank the following teachers for all their very hard work, effort and understanding they put into the two weeks:

Mr Hardisty
Mr Rimes
Miss Richards and Mrs Morris in the first week
Mr Gasperino and Mr Creighton and Mrs Austin for the second week.

Thanks very much to all these teachers.

Thank you

THE PEARSON/LAWSON REPORT

As their form teachers we have survived another year with those rabble rousers in 10E. Ten minutes every Friday was sometimes too much for us but nevertheless, in a moment of madness, we suggested taking them away for a weekend of fun and frolic in the big smoke. Actually officially we called it and urban camp and the kids organise cake-stalls to help finance it.

A 5am start one Saturday morning in May, saw us yawning and bleary eyed on a bus headed for the Victoria market. Fortunately our eardrums stood up to the onslaught of what Christian called music and we filed out of the bus to experience the colour and activity of the market.

From the market we walked into the city and became caught up in the hustle and bustle of city shoppers. The afternoon's activities involved the football and the pictures. Les sacrificed himself and accompanied some of the more difficult students to the football, (hey wasn't that Sonya and Mandy? Well done Les!), while the rest of us went of us went to the pictures.

For tea we had a barbecue at Albert Park Lake where Polly, Nicole and Mr Soggyweeties joined us. Then it was off to Luna Park where the kids went mad on the "wiz-bang" machines and we managed to calm them down with a soothing merry-go-round ride in time to sedately pose for a photograph with Bob Hawke.

11C - THE YEAR THAT WAS.

First of all we had to get to know each other, so Dicky and Gitto organized for us to RIDE bikes out to Major Mitchell´s Crossing and camp, in tents, for two days, on rations.

Susan Cook got tied up in a sleeping bag and then tied to a tree, so we all knew where she´d be if we needed her. Anissa McRae, the forms cricket hero, taught us all how to take a "speccy" and land in the mud all in one. Timmy Donohue gave us a lesson on how to harass neighbouring campers. Jason Pemberton surprized us all by going for a swim in the nearby river, to retrieve a tennis ball. After which he decided to give Carolin Gittins a mud pack but Gitto noticed Jason had a few too many pimples and returned the favour.

Big bad Dicky Phillips wanted to bust a few heads and went crazy and bashed a few. The weekend was a success with everyone getting to know everyone.

Then came the trip to the footy, we saw Melbourne play Carlton. Some were interested but those who weren´t just cruised. Mr. Football Dicky explained a few good tactics to us but (we didn´t understand a word he said) of course "Dick knows". By the way Carlton won.

Pemp thought it would be a good idea to go to a concert. Crowded House were playing at Festival Hall, so we got tickets and off we went. Sappy and Cookie were spewing, they´d already bought tickets. Never mind. Once there we all rocked. Well some of us did. Timmy Donohue got a bit wary of this tough looking character (male) who just stood behind him ready to kill him. But not to worry, Timmy Donohue is still with us. Les Lawson, Netta, Stevo and Huey were among us. We also saw James Reyne at the concert which was an additional treat. And we saw Carol Hitchcock in our travels.

In between now and then we´ve done: a dinner for the teachers, dinner for our parents, a student auction, a couple of cake stalls, a chocolate stall and we catered for a Trivia Night.

From the 31st to the 2nd of November we went to Melbourne. We left Seymour on Saturday morning (7.00 a.m.), where we were put into groups of 4 to 5 and dropped off in the outskirts of Melbourne. Upon which, we had to find our way back to the Hostel (Minimbah) before 1.30 p.m. Most groups managed this task quite well. Dave Becketts group got lost in Armadale, of all places, after listening to directions from Cecily Beeby. That afternoon we had an informal discussion with a representative of the Victoria Police Force on drugs and the effect on the human body, which was very entertaining. After that we went to St. Kilda Beach for the rest of the afternoon. The Saturday night we all went into the city to see a film of our choice.

Not much sleep was had that night. The next day we all piled into the faithful bus and headed to Portsea. We spent about an hour on a nice calm beach just swimming and sunbaking, until Peter Gaffney and David Harris got bored and had a big sand fight. Sand went everywhere, eyes, ears, mouth, etc. which was another very entertaining moment. After that we had a B.B.Q. lunch at Dave Beckett´s parents house. They have an absolutely excellent view of the sea. After leaving Dave´s we headed for the Surf Beach!

Should have seen the look on Shaun Spain´s face when a topless sunbather asked him for a light. Not knowing what to do, stunned Shaun said "Er, um, I´m sure I have one here somewhere". By the way, Shaun doesn´t smoke. Dave Harris being as cool as cool, saved the day and gave her a light. We had it pretty good. It was a great! time at the surf.

Dick, "the whale" Phillips showed us the finer points of body surfing. Anyway, that night we all went back to the Hostel, to shower and get ready to go to the movies. Again!! Should have seen Anita Sapsford and Susan Cook´s faces when stunning Timmy Donohue walked out of the showers wearing nothing but a smile!

When we got into the city we all split up and chose different movies, Again. But who´s complaining. After that we cruised on down to Lygon Street to create some action, but failed, so we got some food instead. God forbid some of us were 5 minutes late back to the bus. "Thanks Les".

Melbourne Orientation Day was next. Everyone split up into groups to find different places around the centre of Melbourne. Dicky´s group of Timmy, Dave and Jenny had problems finding the city baths. Was I mistaken or was Les Lawson 5 minutes late back for lunch! The same crime some of us were convicted of committing!

The bus trip was pretty lively because we all got some new batteries for the tape recorder. So we all had a great time singing and just generally having fun. Until we got to Anissa McRae´s house. Time to eat. Being rather famished we all hooked in. After Dave Beckett fired up the barbie and cooked us a feast. After stuffing our faces we thanked Anissa´s parents and came back to Seymour and got some shut eye.

Our next activity is a camp at Lakes Entrance from December 11th to 15th which should be one hell of a rage. Surf, fishing, sun, music and fun for five days.

The form of 11C wish to thank the staff for their support during the year, especially the parents of the form, Mrs. Duncan, Mr. Brown, Mr. Watson, Les, Huey, Stevo, Fly, Smithy and Decker.

Bon Voyage

HEY, HEY ITS SATURDAY TRIP

On Saturday 12th September, Year 11F were fortunate enough to be in the audience of GTV9's "Hey, Hey its Saturday" show.

There were a number of very weary students (and staff), who first ventured to the Victoria Market to do a spot of shopping, as the Deb Ball had finished only a short few hours before.

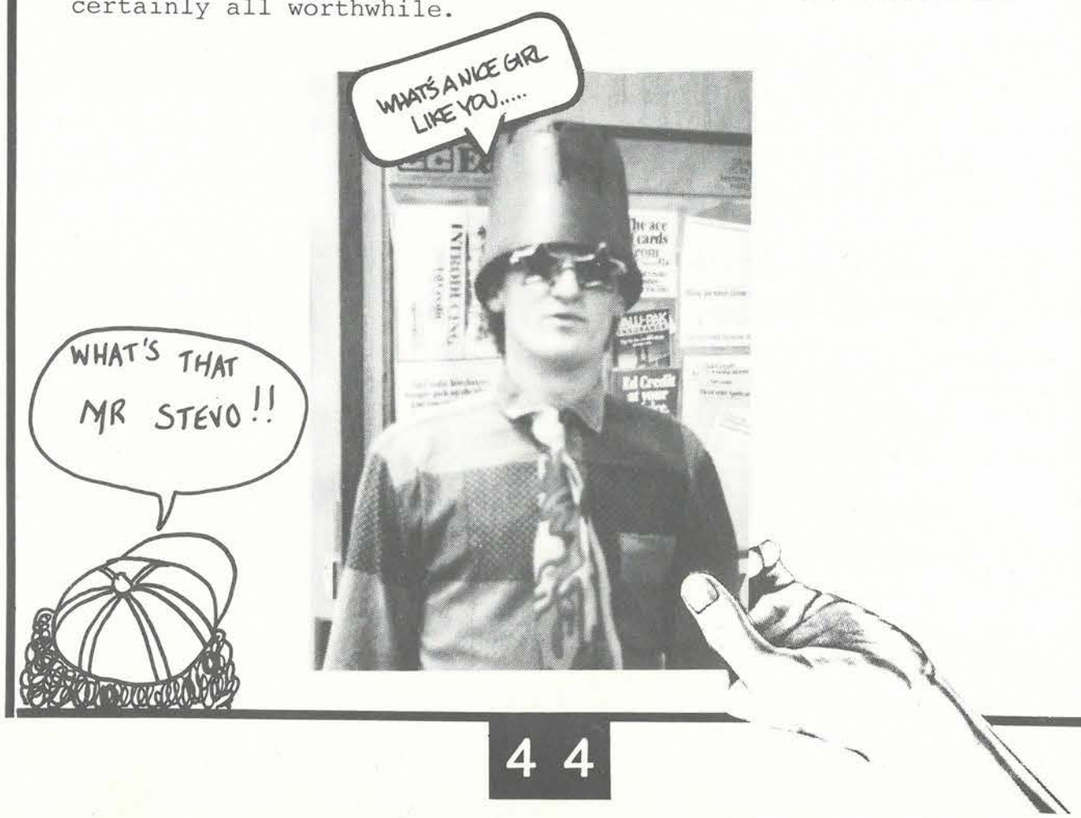
At the studio it was very interesting to observe the "behind the scenes" action and very lay back style of Animal, Red and Wilbur. Ossie certainly looked a sight with a man's arm up his ?*!?!

We were all amazed at the different perspective of the show when viewing from the studio and not a lounge chair. The studio doesn't provide as much spontaniety as one would expect as much of the show is read off idiot cards.

Tara Jarvis was able to be a contestant on 'Ad-Nausium' and won for herself a video game and a compect electronic keyboard.

Following the show the form went ice-skating at the Sidney Myer Music Bowl which certainly was an experience for all. Mr Solomidis and Mr Stevenson had 'a few falls' (some with the help of a push) while Miss Hewitt certainly faired a little better.

It was along day for all involved but the experience was certainly all worthwhile.



DID YOU KNOW...

A SESSION WITH A POLITICAL PERVERT

As Matthew Beel strides confidently into the room, he projects a strong image of a man who knows what he wants out of life and is determined to succeed. His dress and manner show his conservative personality and one would never guess from his appearance that deep down lies a will of political perversity.

Hiding his true beliefs, Matthew gave his support to the Liberal Party, saying he appreciates the Liberal Party's conservative views and he probably would have voted for John Howard in the recent election. He spoke about a career in the police force as being one of his ambitions, but I could see that the conservative Mr Beel was coming to a turning point. His penetrating eyes stared at me honestly as he broke through that conservative mask and admitted his true political ideals.

"I'm an ardent Labour supporter", he declared. "Paul Keating is a keen sort of guy because he wears undertaker type suits and does a good job with the economy. He has a sort of charm and charisma and he looks like he's telling the truth, even when he most probably isn't." Matthew smiled ambitiously as he told me that his aim in life is to join a political pressure group, revealing his rebellious political aspirations.

As the last hint of conservatism left him, Matthew opened up completely. He said enthusiastically that communism is "fantastic" as it would cut of the dole and it means one hundred per cent employment. He regrets, however, that most Australians would not accept communism as they were originally "a bunch of convicts."

Matthew believes that peoples' opinions are affected to some extent by the media but their own personal political preferences also. He summed up his views on the matter of media and its influence by saying, "I watch Danger mouse and Inspector Gadget myself."

Matthew denied that his incredible sporting prowess interferred with his political ambitions, he seem to balance the two successfully, saying that, "keeping fit is extremely important in politics." Matthew is so deeply involved in politics that even his underwear is chosen to reflect his political ideals. This way he can hide his true political ambitions and opinions from the outside world but secretly supports his preferred party by wearing certain colored underwear.

Matthew's admittance of wearing yellow and baby blue underwear left no doubts as to where his true political beliefs lie. Studies into the underwear phenomonon have shown that these particular colors actually indicate extreme political naivety.

T12 1987

T12 was completed by six students this year specializing in the building studies area. The Base Study areas are Woodwork, Metalwork and Welding. Their subjects also included English, Mathematics, Data Processing and Graphics.

Part of the T12 course also included a number of community projects. These involved the students completing work in the community and around the school. During the year T12 made a canopy for the trailer which is used for carrying materials from place to place. Their next project was a shed for the Northwood Tennis Club. They then designed and constructed a bird aviary for the Seymour Hospital.

On wet weather days they spent some time scrapping down doors for the Seymour Railways Restoration Group.

The T12 students completed two work experience placements. They began their local programme on the 22nd June. The types of employment included carpentry, sheetmetal, farm work and graphic designing.

Their second placement took place in Melbourne from the 3rd - 14th August. The students stayed at Minimbah Hostel in Armadale and travelled all over Melbourne to work as carpenters, a plumber and a stock and station agent. Activities after work included ice skating, the movies and a visit to Parliament House.

T12 is a course where it is really true that the more you 'put in', the more you 'get out'. As one of the students said "personally I would recommend this course to anyone who wants an alternative to H.S.C. who still wants to be in the school system in a meaningful way and who wants a means towards getting a job - because that is what T12 is all about - preparing you for the workforce".
